

Retirees. Former members of any membership category of the Society, who no longer practice their profession due to retirement, but who would otherwise qualify for membership in the Society, are entitled to hold membership in the Society. These retired members shall be classified as auxiliary members, subject to Section 6: Membership Classification - Auxiliary Member, sections A (i), B and C. In addition to its other powers, the National Executive Board has the discretion to decline any such Retiree's application for membership, or terminate any such Retiree's membership, if the Retiree's occupation or activities become adverse to the Society.
